

Integrated Agricultural and food security

Presented by:

Isaiah Odhiambo Sei-R-LIFE-I Project manager

World Vision International South Sudan Program

Project overview

- Name of Project: Restoring Lives of Families in Emergency (R-LIFE)
- Implementing Partner: World Vision International – South Sudan
- Date and Duration: R-LIFE I-September 2019-October 2020
R-LIFE II commenced September 2020 to August 2021
- Donor: Bureau of Humanitarian Assistance (BHA, formerly OFDA),
USAID

Project achievement

- Through Agricultural and Food security sector, 60,000 vulnerable and food insecure beneficiaries from IDPs and host communities were as supported with crop, livestock and vegetable inputs and tools.
- Improved crop production benefitting 5,640 people (male: 3011, female: 2629) including 537 IDPs
- Revitalize fishing through the provision of fishing kits, and trainings on fish production and preservation benefitting 4000 people (male: 3,444, female: 556) including 768 IDPs.
- Improved livestock production. 460 households (male 120, and female 340) with 920 small ruminants (460 goats and 460 sheep) and 700 poultry distributed through voucher modality to vulnerable households in Panyikang, Malakal, Baliet, Fashoda, Melut and Manyo, Aburoc/Kodok, Kaka, Athidwoi, Melut Dengthoma 1 and 2 sites, and Tonga

Achievement

- Capacity building of the beneficiaries to improve their knowledge base among the targeted communities for sustainable food security.
- As a complementary activity, rehabilitated markets infrastructure (livestock market and local market) to provide conducive environment that promotes local economy recovery and facilitate commerce and marketing of locally produced crops, livestock and other products.
- Mainstreamed the GBV by integrating GBV prevention and response services among these targeted groups through awareness raising on availability of confidential protection services.
- The project formed referral pathways to assist the victims of GBV. The project staff and other stakeholders were also trained of child and adult safeguarding to prevent any potential abuse.