During the month of April, 19 partners collectively provided both food, agriculture and livelihoods assistance to 260,046 people which represents a 23% decline in achievement as compared to last month. Though more interest around the use of cash/voucher modalities are gathered, it has continually proven a challenge as functional markets are not readily available especially in rural areas and transporting of large amount of food items can be challenging and sometimes life-threatening due to insecurity. Concerns are also increasing as the major food provider which is WFP (providing food to almost 300,000 people) has just reduced its food basket to 50% due to funding constraints, with the increased dependency and high needs of the affected population, the food security cluster is therefore advocating for an urgent support to avoid shortage/stoppage of assistance which will eventually cause huge shocks in the communities.
