In May, the Food Security Cluster response has maintained a focus on camp assistance to food insecure beneficiaries and maintained a trend toward cash (up to 21% from 13% in April) and food modalities for returnees.

Ramadan distributions are seen as a spike in partner reporting, with an additional 10 active partners in May. We would expect to see active partner numbers diminish as ad-hoc distributions cease post Eid. It is encouraging that partners report intermittent distribution patterns however.

This type of partner activity also affects target beneficiary reporting, and should not be taken as an ability of cluster partners to meet the protracted needs of beneficiaries. Of note is the increase in partner activity for SO2, with more reporting of agricultural inputs and livelihood/resilience programming.

This trend should become more apparent over the coming months, with returnees in need of SO2 modalities over emergency related responses.
