In May, only one FSLC partner provided agricultural assistance and supported 627 beneficiaries (or 4.3% achievement) out of 14,542 people targeted. Cumulatively, 3,350 people have been reached since January 2020 representing 23% of the target. 100% of the people assisted in May were supported with vouchers for agricultural inputs provided by People in Need.

There is a need to scale up agriculture inputs to support production, improve food security status, and support the livelihood of farming households. The need for agricultural assistance remains high along the ‘contact line’, including in NGCA, most especially considering the existing condition with mine contamination of fields, water shortages, and unstable irrigation.
