Union of Relief & Development Associations
URDA, Union of Relief and Development Associations, is a Lebanese non-governmental organization dedicated to ensuring the human rights of the most vulnerable groups in Lebanon.

In June 2012, the Syrian refugee crisis reached its peak in Lebanon. Immediately, thirty humanitarian non-governmental organizations felt the need to coordinate their humanitarian efforts under one strong umbrella, thus paving the way for the Union of Relief and Development Associations to be born.
URDA provides its services through seven different humanitarian sectors:

- SHELTER
- RELIEF
- HEALTHCARE
- EDUCATION
- PROTECTION
- DEVELOPMENT
- SPONSORSHIP
URDA’s work has reached the many mountains and valleys of Lebanon. We make sure that vulnerable communities are empowered, psychosocially supported and educated, but most importantly, we never compromise the legal protection of women and children in any possible way. Our humanitarian work stretches across seven sectors: relief, shelter, healthcare, education, protection, development, and sponsorship.
