The Somalia In-Country Network (ICN) for Protection from Sexual Exploitation and Abuse was established in 2007, and largely comprises UN agencies. Information has yet to be received whether the network has been continuing and who is leading it.

Chair: Humanitarian Coordinator (TBC)

Focus: The focus of the ICN is to build a broader constituency of agencies with the network with the appointment of more focal points (FPs) from each agency and to promote stronger and better coordinated mechanisms between ICN members where beneficiaries raised complaints about SEA.

Actions: A decision was taken to also establish field-based networks of local and national NGOs, called Community-Based PSEA Networks. The NGOs involved were already in contact with the beneficiaries as implementing partners of UN agencies and INGOs. Four PSEA networks were established, one in each of Somalia’s four main regions, although the extent of their development, funding and support varied depending on access and security, as well as the experience of the NGOs in working with beneficiaries. For each network, the number of NGOs differed depending on the number of agencies operating in each area, with an average of approximately 20 NGOs. NGOs were selected through meetings and an open invitation by the GenCap Adviser to participate in the Community-Based PSEA Networks.

The HLCM members have expressed strong support for the initiative of the Secretary-General to strengthen the response to Sexual Exploitation and Sexual Abuse. Strong support was also expressed by the Committee for coordinated interagency cooperation to mainstream approaches to prevent sexual exploitation and sexual abuse and to share information with a view to joint action. HLCM members agreed that the best way forward to address this broad issue was to task a small strategic group to dissect competencies and allocate them to appropriate mechanisms.
Conduct and Discipline Unit (CDU) and Conduct and Discipline Teams

Head

Purpose: The Conduct and Discipline Team was established at UN Headquarters in the Department of Peacekeeping Operations (DPKO) in November 2005 as part of a reform package designed to strengthen accountability and uphold the highest standards of conduct. They take complaints about peacekeeper behavior and liaison with other UN offices that investigate complaints. They communicate the zero tolerance policy vis-à-vis both prostitution transactional sex and sex with minors and the “strong discouragement” of sex with beneficiaries of UN assistance.

Are you looking for other structures which don’t focus only on PSEA but also includes PSEA in their scope of work?

Please note the list is not exhaustive

UN Representatives of Investigation Services (UN-RIS)

Chair: WHO

Purpose: UN-RIS is a new body that aims to strengthen investigation practices and professionalism in the UN system. The UN-RIS Annual Meeting convenes representatives of UN agency investigative functions to share experiences and develop an actionable plan with regard to emerging innovations, challenges and broader policy issues that impact the profession.

Reporting structure: No reporting structure; this is a discussion forum.

Office of Internal Oversight Services (OIOS)

Head: Under-Secretary-General for Internal Oversight Services, Ms. Heidi Mendoza

Purpose: OIOS was established under GA Resolution 48/218B, 12 August 1994, to enhance the oversight functions within the UN (P. 5). OIOS has overall responsibility for internal UN investigations. It’s role is to assist the SG in fulfilling his/her internal oversight responsibilities in respect of the resources and staff of the Organization.

Scope: The aim of OIOS investigations is to establish facts and make recommendations in light of its findings. The SG or delegated program manager has the responsibility to consider what action, if any, is to be taken after a receipt of the report. OIOS is not a law enforcement agency, and does not have subpoena or other coercive statutory powers; however in cases of possible criminality, OIOS may make a recommendation to the Office of Legal Affairs (OLA) for referral to national enforcement authorities. (The uniform guidelines for investigations provide the fundamental standards for investigations and investigators in the UN and other international organizations.

Referrals: OIOS may refer matters to an investigation authority, both internally and to external bodies. “Matters referred to national authorities typically involve possible criminal conduct. However, criminal matters are investigated and prosecuted in the name of the relevant governmental authority of that State. National authorities act under their own prerogative and are not responsible to the United Nations for any reply, follow-up or other action.”
Focus: The objectives of the Office of Legal Affairs (OLA) are (i) to ensure the legally appropriate performance of the Agency's work, to prepare legal instruments, including international agreements and internal regulations, to provide legal interpretations of these instruments and regulations, (ii) to ensure that the legal aspects of the Agency's work program are appropriately addressed... (iv) to ensure a coordinated approach to legal issues common to the United Nations system. The United Nations Office of Legal Affairs provides a unified central legal service for the Secretariat and the principal and other organs of the United Nations and contributes to the progressive development and codification of international public and trade law. If, after proper investigation, there is evidence to support allegations of sexual exploitation or sexual abuse, these cases may, upon consultation with the Office of Legal Affairs, be referred to national authorities for criminal prosecution.

Structure: There are six divisions within the OLA: the Office of the Legal Counsel (OLC), General Legal Division (GLD), Codification Division (COD), Division for Ocean Affairs and the Law of the Sea (DOALOS), International Trade Law Division (ITLD), and the Treaty Section (TREATY). These all report to the Under-Secretary-General for Legal Affairs and the Legal Counsel of the United Nations. Participates in High Level Steering Committee and SEA Working Group, is the chair of the Protocol on Information Sharing.

Are you looking to better understand Humanitarian Coordinators’ and Resident Coordinators’ responsibilities regarding PSEA?

Humanitarian Coordinators (HC)
The IASC Statement on PSEA issued by the Principals on 11 December 2015, reinforced PSEA responsibilities for Humanitarian Coordinators “in order to ensure PSEA has a clear place within the humanitarian architecture and IASC system-wide responsibility for developing PSEA strategies and action plans is institutionalized”. The ERC notified the Humanitarian Coordinators of this new responsibility on 28 January 2016, and clarified that this role would include developing inter-agency complaint mechanisms, ensuring survivors have access to appropriate immediate and longer-term assistance, coordinating inter-agency allegation referrals, and reporting regularly to the ERC on PSEA in relation to humanitarian operations. Furthermore, PSEA will be a standing agenda item at the HC Annual Retreat.

Resident Coordinators (RC)
The RC is responsible for ensuring that a network of focal points for the implementation of the provision contained in the SG’s “Bulletin on special measures for protection from sexual exploitation and sexual abuse” is operational and supporting the development and implementation of a country-level action plan to address the issue. Specific responsibilities include: ensuring agencies raise awareness among staff about SEA and expected behaviors, advising the local population on the UN Standards of Conduct on PSEA and ways to report misconduct, and taking appropriate action when there is reason to believe that sexual exploitation and abuse has occurred, including the provision of victim assistance. In circumstances where a Resident Coordinator is operating in an emergency context, and therefore also assumes a Humanitarian Coordinator and/or DSRSG function, PSEA responsibilities outlined in both Terms of Reference will have to be carried out in conjunction. Mention should be made of UNDP’s efforts as a result of the HLCM Task Force. As you know, Jaqueline has been updating on this.
