The prolonged conflict-driven humanitarian crisis in Yemen remains the worst and largest in the world, and is confounded by several interlocking socio-economic and humanitarian crises. Data in 2019 indicated that 20 million Yemenis (67 per cent of the population) were food insecure, including nearly 10 million who were suffering from extreme levels of hunger - a 14 per cent increase since 2018 and almost twice the figure before the escalation of the conflict. Nearly two thirds of all districts in the country (190 out of 333 districts) were facing emergency IPC phase 4 conditions. In spite of the complex and difficult operational environment, FSAC partners managed to deliver emergency food assistance to an average of 11.7 million individuals on a monthly basis, and provided livelihoods support to an estimated 4.7 million individuals.
